🪪 PROFILE

- A passionate nursing lecturer with over 6 years of experience at Ain Shams University, teaching students from various social and cultural backgrounds. I possess a blend of theoretical knowledge and practical nursing experience, having worked for 4 years as a bedside and charge nurse in the emergency room and intensive care unit. I have excellent administrative, verbal communication, and written skills, along with constructive and effective teaching methods that promote a stimulating learning environment. My areas of nursing interest include acute care nursing and nursing education.
